Fulford Non-Stipendiary Junior Research Fellowships

Somerville College invites applications for up to eight Fulford Non-Stipendiary Junior Research Fellowships for the period 1 October 2017 to 30 September 2019 (or for the duration of the postholder's appointment if this is shorter). The posts are intended to provide the opportunity for outstanding early career researchers to benefit from association with a College, and to encourage interactions with the wider Somerville community. Four posts are open to researchers in the Medical Sciences division, and a further four are for researchers in any of the other three divisions (Humanities, Social Sciences, and Mathematical, Physical & Life Sciences). There is no stipend being offered for these posts as they offer an association to the College, not employment.

Somerville College

Somerville College is one of 38 independent, self-governing colleges of the University of Oxford. Somerville takes great pride in its pioneering history, its academic excellence and its intellectual and social openness. It was founded in 1879 as a non-sectarian college as one of the first Oxford colleges to admit women tutors and students; it has been a mixed college since 1994. There are 160 graduate students currently reading for masters and doctoral degrees and about 400 undergraduates following three and four-year courses across a wide variety of disciplines. The undergraduate body includes a higher than average proportion of state-school students. Further information about the College may be found at www.some.ox.ac.uk.

Eligibility and selection criteria

You should hold a post-doctoral appointment or similar in a Department or Faculty of the University of Oxford and be doing research in a subject area where Somerville College has Fellows. In exceptional circumstances those living and working in Oxford but holding a research post with another University may be considered

You should have completed their doctorate or expect to have completed it before the start of the Fellowship. Applicants should not have completed their doctorate more than five years before the start of the Fellowship, allowing for extensions due to caring responsibilities. Although the Fellowship is intended for a relatively junior scholar, this refers to the stage a candidate has reached in their career, rather than to the age of the candidate. The College welcomes qualified candidates of all ages and will take into account the individual circumstances of each in selecting the successful candidate.

<http://www.some.ox.ac.uk/about-somerville/somerville-people/>

Selection criteria will be based on: quality of research, academic fit with College Fellowship and resources, post-doctoral funding, and aptitude for teaching (if applicable).

Benefits

- Each Fulford JRF will be paired with a College mentor, a more senior member of our academic community working in the same or a related field
- Full Common table rights i.e. free lunch and dinner whenever the College kitchens are open
- Guest membership of the Senior Common Room
- Opportunities for undergraduate teaching may also be available (which would be paid at the external tuition rates set by the Senior Tutors' Committee). If employment is offered at a later date then this would be subject to satisfactory right to work checks and provision of a valid NI number.

Equal Opportunities statement

The policy and practice of the University of Oxford and of Somerville College require that all staff are afforded equal opportunities within employment. In all cases, ability to perform the job will be the primary consideration. ### Pre-employment screening

If you are selected for the post, employment with the College will be conditional upon satisfying the following requirements.

1. Eligibility to work in the UK

The Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006 makes it a criminal offence for employers to employ someone who is not entitled to work in the UK. We therefore ask applicants to provide proof of their right to work in the UK before employment can commence.

Please note that you will need to provide original documents and where any documents are not in English a certified translation will be required. Do not include these documents with your application. You will be sent a request for the relevant information at the appropriate point in the selection process.

2. Medical fitness

Please note that any offer of employment will be conditional upon receipt of a completed pre-employment medical health assessment questionnaire and confirmation from the University of Oxford Occupational Health Service that the candidate is medically fit for the post (allowing for any reasonable adjustments that may be required, in line with the provisions of the Equality Act 2010).

The purpose of the pre-employment medical health questionnaire is to:

- assess the candidate's medical capability to do the job for which they have applied.
- determine whether any reasonable adjustments or auxiliary aids may be required to accommodate any disability or impairment which they may have.
- ensure that none of the requirements of the job for which they have applied would adversely affect any pre-existing health conditions the candidate may have.

The appointment will not commence until medical fitness for work, and any reasonable adjustments that may be required, is confirmed by the University Occupational Health Service.
