Dame Stephanie Shirley CH
Mary Somerville Lecture 2018

'Excluding the excluded'

Hosted by Jan Royall

Dame Stephanie Shirley (85) was an unaccompanied child refugee who took her maths degree at evening classes and was a late pioneer of computing. In 1962 she started what became a successful software company of women, for women; and then gave most of her self-made money away.

Dame Stephanie is a Foundation Fellow of Balliol and on Oxford University's Court of Benefactors. To-date she has given £68m, some to IT (her professional discipline) but mainly to autism (her late son's disorder).

Wednesday 24th October, 5:30pm

Flora Anderson Hall, Somerville College, Woodstock Road, Oxford, OX2 6HD
