Key information

- Medical emergencies: call 999 (or 112 from international phones) immediately. When it is safe to do so, someone should try to contact the Welfare Officer, College Nurse or Junior Deans—or the porters if no one else is available.

- Medical non-emergencies: see the College Nurse for first aid, advice and referrals to the GP/hospital. Outside of the nurses hours see the Porters for first aid or ring 111 for advice. Appointments with the GP can be made by contacting Observatory Medical Practice.

- Mental health emergencies: if you or someone you know is at risk of serious harm, call 999 (or 112 from international phones) immediately. When it is safe to do so, someone should try to contact the Welfare Officer, College Nurse or Junior Deans—or the porters if no one else is available.

- Non-emergencies, but still want help quickly: Check the timetable to see who is available and use the contact details to get in touch. Most of the time someone on the College Welfare Team will be available quickly. On the very rare occasion that this is not possible someone will be available at Nightline or Samaritans. You can also contact the Senior Tutor or the JCR welfare team at peer.supporters@some.ox.ac.uk to check Facebook for drop in sessions and events.

Other welfare information

- Support: if and when you feel ready, it is important that you talk to someone, remembering that you have done nothing wrong. Any support you receive will be treated confidentially and we will assist you with the reporting procedure if that is what you want to do.

- Crime: Reporting a crime: To report a crime call the police on 999 (emergencies), 101 or 01865 841148

- Covid-19: If you develop any symptoms of Covid-19 (high temperature, a new continuous cough, or a loss or change to your sense of smell or taste) arrange for a PCR test as soon as possible through the University’s Early Alert Service or the NHS. You should also email Andrew Parker (treasurer@somervillenurse@oxfordhealth.nhs.uk) and the Covid helpdesk, covid@some.ox.ac.uk, to let college know that you have booked a test. The college welfare team are here to support you through Covid in any way we can.
