Mary Ewart Junior Research Fellowship 2022 - 2025
In Economics

Somerville College is one of the thirty-nine constituent colleges of the University of Oxford. It was founded (as Somerville Hall) in 1879 to provide an opportunity for women, who at that date were excluded from membership of the University, to gain higher education at Oxford. The founders’ insistence that students should not be subjected to religious tests or obligations marked Somerville off from its Anglican counterpart, Lady Margaret Hall, and set the tone of cultural diversity which has characterized the College to this day. Somerville first admitted male Fellows in 1993 and male undergraduates in 1994. At present there are 46 members of Governing Body, and circa 650 undergraduates and 200 graduates, with roughly equal numbers of women and men at each level. Further information about the College is available at www.some.ox.ac.uk

The Governing Body of Somerville College invites applications for a Mary Ewart Research Fellowship in the field of Economics for three years from 1st October 2022 or as soon as possible thereafter and the post will not be renewable thereafter.

Benefits
The annual salary (stipend) will be from £33,309 (grade 7.1 on the University pay scale, point 29 of the National pay spine). Accommodation in College may be available at an appropriate market rate. The postholder will be elected as a member of the Senior Common Room and will have full dining rights. The postholder will also be eligible to join the University’s Superannuation Scheme, and be eligible for a subsidised place in an on-site Nursery run by the College, subject to availability. The stipend will be subject to annual review. Somerville College offers a research allowance of £1000 per year for this post.

Duties
The Fellow elected shall be required to:

- Engage in advanced research in any sub-field of Economics, leading to publications in peer reviewed journals;
- Disseminate his or her research through activities like attending and presenting at conferences, publishing findings in high-quality journals, giving research seminars or engaging in science communication and outreach;
- present an annual report on his or her work to the Governing Body;
- reside in Oxford during Full Term unless the circumstances of his or her work require otherwise. Permission to reside outside Oxford for any part of the tenure of the Fellowship must be sought from Governing Body and will be granted only where there are good academic reasons;
- The postholder may be asked to teach if the need arises.

Location: You will be primarily based at Somerville College, Woodstock Road, Oxford OX2 6HD.

Essential Criteria:
- Candidates for the Fellowship will be expected to have completed or be close to completing a doctorate in Economics. Applicants should not have completed their doctorate more than five years before the start of the Fellowship, allowing for extensions due to caring responsibilities or in other extenuating circumstances. Although the Fellowship is intended for a relatively junior s tolerated. This refers to the stage a candidate has reached in his or her career, rather than to the age of the candidate; the College welcomes qualified candidates of all ages and will take into account the individual circumstances of each in selecting the successful candidate.

- The proposed research must fall in the field of Economics.

Candidates will be assessed on the quality of their scholarship as appropriate to the stage in their research career; in particular:

- Evidence of emerging leadership in their respective field, as demonstrated by research achievements and future plans;
- Extensive experience of analytical methods appropriate to the candidate’s discipline; ability to apply these methods to produce robust results;
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills, as evidenced by publication record and other research communication;
- Ability to work without close supervision, prioritise work, manage time effectively and make independent decisions.
- This appointment cannot be held in conjunction with any other full-time employment.

Desirable criteria

- Consideration will also be given to the degree of fit of the proposed topic of research with the College’s research and teaching interests.

Equal Opportunities statement
The policy and practice of the University of Oxford and of Somerville College require that all staff are afforded equal opportunities within employment. Entry into employment and progression within employment will be determined only by personal merit and the application of criteria which are related to the duties of each particular post and the relevant salary structure. In all cases, ability to perform the job will be the primary consideration. Subject to statutory provisions, no applicant or member of staff will be treated less favourably than another because of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy or maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, or sexual orientation. Where suitably qualified individuals are available, selection panels will contain at least one member of each sex.

Pre-employment screening
If you are selected for the post, employment with the College will be conditional upon satisfying the following requirements.

1. Eligibility to work in the UK
The Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006 makes it a criminal offence for employers to employ someone who is not entitled to work in the UK. We therefore ask applicants to provide proof of their right to work in the UK before employment can commence. Please note that you will need to provide original documents and where any documents are not in English a certified translation will be required. Do not include these documents with your application. You will be sent a request for the relevant information at the appropriate point in the selection process.

2. Medical fitness
Please note that any offer of employment will be conditional upon receipt of a completed pre-employment medical health assessment questionnaire and confirmation from the University of Oxford Occupational Health Service that the candidate is medically fit for the post (allowing for any reasonable adjustments that may be required, in line with the provisions of the Equality Act 2010). The purpose of the pre-employment medical health questionnaire is to:
(i) assess the candidate's medical capability to do the job for which they have applied;
(ii) determine whether any reasonable adjustments or auxiliary aids may be required to accommodate any disability or impairment which they may have;
(iii) ensure that none of the requirements of the job for which they have applied would adversely affect any pre-existing health conditions the candidate may have.
The appointment will not commence until medical fitness for work, and any reasonable adjustments that may be required, is confirmed by the University Occupational Health Service.
