Prelude and Fugue in E minor (BWV 533) – J.S. Bach (1685–1750)

Prelude autre livre – Louis Couperin (1626–1661)

Please stand with the choir to sing the opening hymn.

Congregational Hymn

Lord of all hopefulness, Lord of all joy,
Whose trust, ever child-like,
No cares could destroy,
Be there at our waking,
And give us, we pray,
Your bliss in our hearts, Lord,
At the break of the day.

Lord of all eagerness, Lord of all faith,
Whose strong hands were skilled
At the plane and the lathe,
Be there at our labours,
And give us, we pray,
Your strength in our hearts, Lord,
At the noon of the day.

Lord of all kindness, Lord of all grace,
Your hands swift to welcome,
Your arms to embrace,
Be there at our homing,
And give us, we pray,
Your love in our hearts, Lord,
At the eve of the day.

Lord of all gentleness, Lord of all calm,
Whose voice is contentment,
Whose presence is balm,
Be there at our sleeping,
And give us, we pray,
Your peace in our hearts, Lord,
At the end of the day.

Welcome and Reflection

Baroness Jan Royall, Principal

Let us reflect on the people and the values that have shaped our College. Somerville was founded on a promise to offer opportunities to those women who had been denied them. Let us hope that our College, and our University, will continue to honour that promise by striving to give opportunities to students of all backgrounds, and of all faiths and none, who would excel and flourish here.

Tolerance, charity and respect are at the heart of what it means to be a Somervillian. Above the doors of our chapel reads the phrase ‘a house of prayer for all people’; let us wish that this building, and this college, is always a space of safety, creativity and reflection for all who pass through our doors. And let us hope that courage and generosity remain always at the forefront of our deeds.

Somerville's existence is the result of the pioneering vision of our founders. The implacable determination of these women and men to advance the higher education of women created this place of learning and empowerment. We remember and thank them now: John Percival, Rachel Vernon Harcourt, Mary Ward, Henry Pelham, Thomas Hill Green, George Kitchin, and John Magrath.

When this college was founded in 1879, there were just twelve students, living in a single building and attending lectures in a room above a baker's shop. Through the support of our benefactors, Somerville grew rapidly to take its place among the colleges of Oxford and state a powerful case for women in education, academia, and this University. The generosity of our supporters has allowed us to continue to expand our efforts to honour our educational purpose, support our students, and create opportunities for those who have been denied them to realise their talent and academic potential. You may find a full list of benefactors at the end of the order of service, the most recent being Christian Carritt, Cathy King, Mary Low, Hilary Nightingale, Olga Olver, Rachel Sykes and Joyce Reynolds.

We also thank those who wisely governed the college or taught within its walls for their dedication and service. You may find a full list of these individuals at the end of the order of service.

Finally, we reflect on all those Somervillians who have died. We take inspiration from their lives and their achievements, and we offer our condolences to those who mourn their loss. These women have been the life blood of this College. May they rest in peace, and live on in the memory and history of Somerville.

Please remain seated as we say together the Lord's Prayer:

Our Father who art in heaven,
hallowed be thy name.
Thy kingdom come.

Thy will be done
on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread,
and forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive those who trespass against us,
and lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom
the power, and the glory,
for ever and ever.
Amen.

Reading

‘Remember’

Christina Rossetti

Read by Margaret Jay, Baroness Jay of Paddington (1958, PPE)

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more day by day
You tell me of our future that you plann'd:
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve:
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.

Anthem

Music, when soft voices die,
Vibrates in the memory—
Odours, when sweet violets sicken,
Live within the sense they quicken.

Rose leaves, when the rose is dead,
Are heaped for the beloved's bed;
And so thy thoughts, when thou art gone,
Love itself shall slumber on.

Percy Bysshe Shelley (1792–1822)

Charles Wood (1866–1926)

Address

Dr Jackie Watson (1986, English)
Alumni Relations Officer

Anthem

Peace, my heart, let the time for the parting be sweet.
Let it not be a death but completeness.
Let love melt into memory and pain into songs.
Let the flight through the sky end
in the folding of the wings over the nest.
Let the last touch of your hands be gentle
like the flower of the night.
Stand still, O Beautiful End,
for a moment, and say your last words in silence.
I bow to you and hold up my lamp
to light you on your way.

We hope they may rest in peace.

Their example reminds us that we are privileged to be members of this Somerville community. Like those who went before us, we, who have benefited so much from our education here, have a duty to work to share those benefits with others and with the wider world. Let us resolve together to uphold this most Somervillian of values as they did, and, in doing so, honour their lives.

Let us say together: May the Lord meet in mercy all who seek him, and comfort those who suffer and mourn; and may the Lord give his people, of every land and of every tongue, the blessing of peace. Amen.

Please stand.

Congregational Hymn

Guide me, O thou great Redeemer,
Pilgrim through this barren land;
I am weak, but thou art mighty;
Hold me with thy powerful hand:
Bread of heaven, bread of heaven
Feed me till I want no more.
Feed me till I want no more.

Open now the crystal fountain
Whence the healing stream doth flow;
Let the fire and cloudy pillar
Lead me all my journey through:
Strong deliverer, strong deliverer
Be thou still my strength and shield.
Be thou still my strength and shield.

When I tread the verge of Jordan,
Bid my anxious fears subside;
Death of death, and hell's destruction,
Land me safe on Canaan's side:
Songs of praises, songs of praises
I will ever give to thee.
I will ever give to thee.

About Somerville Chapel

Welcome to our Chapel. Somerville was founded in 1879 as both the joint-first women's college at Oxford and the first college to be 'undenominational' – that is, unaffiliated to any particular church. This far-sighted decision allowed women of all faiths and none to be able to study at Oxford.

Accordingly, Somerville was never meant to have a Chapel – so how did it get here? In 1932, the adventurer, author, artist and former Somerville student Emily Georgiana Kemp came forward with a proposal. Inspired by her encounters with different faiths and philosophies during her travels in the east, she wanted to fund the creation of a unique college Chapel. Although dedicated to God, it would be 'A House of Prayer For All People' (a statement now inscribed above the front door) where those of different nationalities, faiths and perspectives could gather to pray, reflect, and discuss matters of philosophy, religion and spirituality.

The resulting building opened in 1935. It reflects a traditional Oxford chapel in its collegiate layout and its stained glass east window by Reginald Bell, depicting Christ at the gateway to the knowledge of life. Look around more closely however, and you might notice a few differences: our Theorama under the window (representing the 9 major world religions and humanism), the grand piano that stands in place of an altar, or the prayer mats in the corner for anyone in need of them.

As the decades have passed, we have embraced more and more the Chapel's multi-faith role. In 2001, we founded a choir and inaugurated a series of what has come to be called Choral Contemplations, Somerville's unique multi-faith reimagining of Oxford's Sunday evening Choral Evensong tradition. We pair talks on faith or philosophy by speakers from a diverse range of backgrounds and perspectives with beautiful music. You are warmly welcome to join us every Sunday in term-time at 5.30 PM.
