The site team have continued the enabling and investigation works over the last period with the archaeology team in attendance. When removing the existing footings in the South West corner a Victorian culvert was exposed. The Archaeologist's have surveyed and photographed the culvert which has now been removed.

Scaffolding is now underway to allow demolition works to start on the stone wall. This will be carried out in stages with a scaffold adaption between each stage.

New Cycle hoops are being installed opposite the Jericho Medical Centre.

The next element of works will be to complete the demolition of the boundary wall and complete several service diversions along with stabilising the historical wall.
